

National Public Health Week

April 6 - 12, 2026

National Public Health Week highlights the importance of prevention, health equity, and community well-being. Across the country, organizations host events focused on improving population health and addressing critical public health challenges.

-
- Environmental & Community Health
  - Social Determinants of Health
  - Health Education & Promotion
  - Community Engagement & Outreach
-

A few suggestions for how you can get involved in your area:

- Organize a community cleanup
- Volunteer at a local soup kitchen or food pantry
- Table at a community event
- Assist at a vaccine clinic

Learn how you can earn your service cord:
<https://success.une.edu/public-health/service-cord/>

Contact Kristina Stewart at kstewart19@une.edu with questions

